WORLD BAPTISTS AT STOCKHOLM

To Hold World Congress the First Time in 11 Years

STOCKHOLM, July 12.—For the first time in eleven years, the Baptists of the world are to hold a world congress and this city has been selected as the place of the meeting.

The congress is scheduled to convene here July 21-27. The last world meeting was held in Philadelphia in 1912. Plans were laid there for another world gathering in 1916, but this was cancelled because of the war, and postwar developments have made it impossible to hold another congress until this year.

Approximately 750 Americans are planning to meet in Stockholm for the convention, many of whom are called from New York June 30 on the United States liner "America," known as the "official ship." The "America" carried the largest party of any going from the United States, but several other groups of 50 to 100 have been reported.

One of these was the Kuangholm sailing on June 20, when more than 100 delegates, mostly Swedish-Americans, embarked for Gothenburg. Another party of 60, most of whom were from Texas, sailed on the Berengaria June 26.

Thousands of Delegates

Thousands of delegates are expected from the United States, Canada, South America, Central Africa, New Zealand, Australia, Japan, the Philippine Islands, China, Burma, India, as well as from Great Britain, Sweden, Norway and the countries of Continental Europe, including the new states of Latvia, Estonia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Several topics of special interest to Baptists as well as significance to the world at large are scheduled for consideration. International peace, in which the League of Nations will doubtless be included, the need of help in Europe and relief work, and especially religious liberty and the separation of church and state, will receive attention.

A special commission of which Dr. E. Y. Mullin, of Louisville, Ky., is chairman will present a report formulating a pronouncement of Baptist fundamental principles and a re-statement of the Baptist position. The late Rev. R. S. McArthur, for forty years pastor of Calvary Baptist church in New York City, who died Feb. 27, 1923, was president of the Baptist World Alliance and was to have presided at the Stockholm meeting. A new presiding officer has not yet been appointed.

By special invitation of the Archbishop of Upsala, the congress will assemble for divine worship in the famous Cathedral on Sunday evening, July 22, where the sermon will be preached by the Rev. J. H. Shalespeare, D. D., of London.

FOUR HURT IN CAR OF STATE OFFICIAL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 12.—One woman was probably fatally injured and three persons lightly hurt when a motor car driven by C. C. Childers, state auditor, was struck by a street car late last night, according to police.

Mrs. Grace Baughman, an employee in the state auditor's office, was reported in a critical condition today. Childers sustained cuts about the hands from flying glass. The accident occurred when an interurban crashed into the automobile while the party was returning from an outing.

401 BOTTLES OF BEER ARE SEIZED IN RAID

DALLAS, Texas, July 12.—Four hundred and one bottles of "hook" beer were confiscated in a raid on a farm near Hutchins by Deputy Sheriff Seale, Head, Fanning, Taylor, McCreary and Ranger Captain R. D. Shumate. The new beer, 20 per cent alcohol, was cooling in a cellar and is now stored near the refrigerator in the county jail. No one was found at the house by the officers and no arrests made.

BEARD SAVES MAN FROM PAYING FINE

DALLAS, Texas, July 12.—A two days' growth of whiskers saved a man in corporation court from receiving a penalty for molesting a woman. This man was alleged to have accosted a woman making improper advances. The principal witness was unable to positively identify the man in court Wednesday and he escaped with a fine for intoxication.

MARKETS

NEW YORK, July 12.—After the first three hours today with sales of less than 200,000 shares, the stock market became active and stocks advanced readily, many of them getting to new highs on the rally from the lows made ten days ago.

While the extreme dullness was prevailing in the early trading, stocks showed firmness and floor reports were that offerings were so light that any buying at 121 would witness a sharp run up in prices. The forecast was confirmed by subsequent developments.

The rally had more punch than the short lived ones which had been alternately replacing the reactions in the past fortnight.

There was little of note in the day's developments. The weaker tendency of most of the foreign exchanges was not communicated to sterling which was steady and half cent higher in the early afternoon. The week's comparison was larger than in the previous week and prices were firm.

The market closed higher.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"You mustn't be jealous," he went on happily. "No sooner had Nancy and Nick and Mister Sky Bow stopped through the big rainbow doorway, than the big rainbow door slid down right out of the sky behind them and shut them in. They were in Rainbow Land at last. "There's another name for Rainbow Land," said Mister Sky Bow. "It's Happy land. No matter what goes wrong, the Rainbow Landers see the happy side of it. Why, here comes one of my friends. It's one of the Noseys." "One of the Noseys?" Nancy couldn't help saying. "Why what a funny name! How did he get it?" "Wait till you see him and then you'll know," smiled Mister Sky Bow. "It's as plain as the nose on your face. I mean on his face." "Well, how do you like me?" asked the Nosey coming nearer. "You're all-looking so hard, I suppose you're admitting my long nose." As he came close, the Twins could hardly keep from laughing, for the Nosey's nose was quite a wonderful affair, coming down quite to the middle button on his coat. "You mustn't be jealous," he went on happily. "We can't all have long noses. But it certainly is wonderful! Oh, how I love to smell dinner cooking. I can smell so much it's almost like eating it." "Even when you have onions?" asked Nick. "And cabbage? And boiled vinegar?" "We don't have those things in Rainbow Land," said Mister Nosey. "But if we had, we should learn to like them. We make the best of everything." "Very good advice," nodded Mister Sky Bow. "Come along, kiddies." (To Be Continued) Copyright, 1935, by NEA Service, Inc.

MAN NEAR DEATH AFTER KNIFE FIGHT

DALLAS, Texas, July 13.—L. M. Tomlinson, 39 years old, was fatally injured and A. E. Lissman is under arrest as a result of a fight in Wilmer, Texas, during which Tomlinson's throat was severely slashed. A grudge of long standing is alleged to have caused the fight. Lissman told officers in the county jail here that Tomlinson attempted to shoot him.

EUROPE'S GRAIN CROPS ARE BIGGEST IN YEARS

PARIS, July 13.—Outlook for European grain crops is the most favorable in years, according to dispatches received here today from ministers of agriculture in countries throughout central Europe. The Polish minister said that the yield this year will be exceptionally good. Everything points to a bumper wheat crop in Roumania. While suffering from the intense heat, the grain districts in Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia will be benefited and an unusual harvest is predicted.

As the steamer reached Aransas Pass a Galveston man fell overboard. A life buoy was thrown him, but he thrust it aside contemptuously. A boat was hurriedly lowered, and reached him just as he came to the surface for the second time. Helping hands were stretched forth to rescue him, but he spurned their aid. He spit out about a pint of sea water and shouted:

"Go away and leave me alone. I'm walking on the bottom. You'll turn your boat around in a minute. I'll wait until I get ready and go up to a barber shop and get shaved off. The ground's damp a little, but I ain't afraid of catching cold."

"He went under for the last time, and the boat pulled back for the ship. The Galveston man had exhibited to the last his scorn and contempt for any other port that claimed deep water."

THE REFEREE—BULL-HEADED

A small steamship from Bergen, Norway, goes through the Welland canal and up the Great lakes. In the bay at Superior, Wis., the ship grounds on a sand bar. Four hours later a tug comes alongside and inquires what's wrong. The Norwegian captain says he's waiting for flood tide to float his ship off the bar.

Being told there's no tide in the Great lakes, he refuses, and announces determinedly that there must be a tide, and that he'll wait until it shows up.

In politics often, and in our personal affairs frequently, most of us have about the same attitude. That's why we remain on the sand bars.

"COME"

William Whyness decided to make his last will and testament. While he was writing, his heart stopped beating. Death came before he could get his typewriter on paper. This happened in Minnesota, N. Y.

It's an old case. Many will see, in the long arm of coincidence or chance. Others will claim that he had a premonition, and that it proves psychic communication with the Beyond. The wise will profit by his experience and make, without delay, their will. You should make a will, though your estate be only $10. Ponder the situations arising from sudden and unexpected death.

WORM-HOLES

A manufacturer of faked antiques in Europe gobbles up a shipment of oak which had been exported from America and refused by the customer because it was worm-eaten. The antique man is highly pleased, says it gives him boring the worm-holes.

TREE

George Washington took command of the American army July 3, 1775, under a famous elm tree in Cambridge, Mass. The old tree is showing its age and a small army of tree doctors is trying to keep it alive.

DEFENDED BY A DEMOCRAT

Republican National Committeeman Charles B. Hilles of New York is said to be one of the adroit politicians of the republican party. Not long ago he grabbed the center of the stage and branded Henry Ford as the American Mammon, a huge bag of gold without intellect or soul and a menace to the American people and the American nation. It was a victrola attack and gave Hilles the first page the country over.

Henry Ford is a citizen of Michigan. Judge William F. Connelly is a citizen of Michigan, a member of the national committee of his party and a noted leader of the Michigan Democrats. Judge Connelly has taken up the gaudel in defense of the billionaire manufacturer. He calls a spade a spade. He measures his man. He has given Henry Ford a clean bill of health. These are the words of the Michigan judge:

"Preparatory and parasitic wealth may hate and fear Henry Ford but the productive forces of our economic life find in him a kindred spirit. Henry Ford is not a menace to the nation in any aspect of his activities, whether he is considered as a private citizen, a captain of industry or as a potential candidacy for the presidency. His fellow townsmen, who have watched the successive steps of his upward struggle to fame and fortune, are very proud of his career and happy to proclaim him as their very own. He has demonstrated that a program of social and industrial justice when adopted as a business routine is a wise and profitable policy, a lesson which industry in general might learn to its great advantage. No honest man need fear Henry Ford but he has naught in common with the other kind who seeks by devious schemes to absorb the wealth which others earn by the sweat of their brows. If being loyal and faithful to his family, clean and upright in personal conduct, beneficent to his city, just to his employees, far sighted and masterful in his business activity, with the largest fortune known to the world's history, all acquired by productive industry and without an unclean and unfair dollar in it, if this makes Henry Ford a menace to the nation, then we have indeed come to a pretty pass."

National Committeeman Hilles of New York threw down the gauntlet. National Committeeman Connelly of Michigan picked it up and hurled his defy into the very teeth of the somewhat noted republican campaign manager. Connelly speaks for the democrats of Michigan. He is the head of the official democratic machine of the state. Henry Ford may not be a democrat but he appears to have powerful friends among the democratic leaders of his state. Next.

SENATOR UNDERWOOD

Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama has returned from Europe. Those who are close to him say that he will be a contender for the democratic presidential nomination. They say he will command a strong vote in the democratic convention. They say that he is not a conservative of the accepted type. They say he does not overlook the fact that changed conditions demand new treatment. They say if anything, he might be classed as a progressive conservative. They say as opposed to McAdoo and Ford, he is a stand patter but to those who have followed his public life, he represents sanity and progress, having favored the ratification of the League of Nations.

They say, and he admits it, that he has scant respect for the Harding world court proposal. They say that he is not a wet as a wet is understood in New York or New Jersey. He voted against the submission of the Eighteenth amendment. He declared that prohibition was a state and not a federal matter. Now that prohibition is here the Alabama senator is as strongly in favor of the law as is President Harding. Those who declare they know his views on the subject say that the Alabama senator would like to see the Volstead law liberalized so as to permit 2.75 per cent beer, believing that the sale of such a beverage would lessen the breaking of the present law.

Democratic leaders in Washington and elsewhere are said to be doing what they can quietly to encourage Henry Ford to become a third party candidate. According to Washington correspondents their present plan is to force Ford into the democratic primaries, believing that he would be defeated in the convention and would leave the convention angry and run on a third party ticket. With Ford on a third party ticket these leaders opine the Michigan billionaire would draw heavily from the republicans and give the election to the democrats as Theodore Roosevelt did when he headed the Bull Moose ticket in 1912.

If Senator Underwood gives assurances to the political leaders of the Alabama democracy that he is a receptive candidate, democratic national leaders declare that his announcement is sure to make the friends of McAdoo very aggressive the nation over and may force the leaders of the Ford movement to come out in the open and show their hands. Norman E. Mack of Buffalo is a veteran leader of the democracy and for years has been a member of the national committee. He is for Governor Al Smith for the nomination. He believes that the democratic national platform will carry a plank calling for liberalization of the Volstead law, he fears that there is great danger in underestimating the strength of Henry Ford as a contender for the democratic nomination and doesn't hesitate to say that the showing made by the Michigan billionaire in the Literary Digest poll was a great surprise to him. Ford had 250 votes to 700 for McAdoo and a canvass was made among democratic officials.

All the candidates are milling around. All the democratic politicians are milling around. It may be different when the frost is on the pumpkin.

KING ON THE ROAD

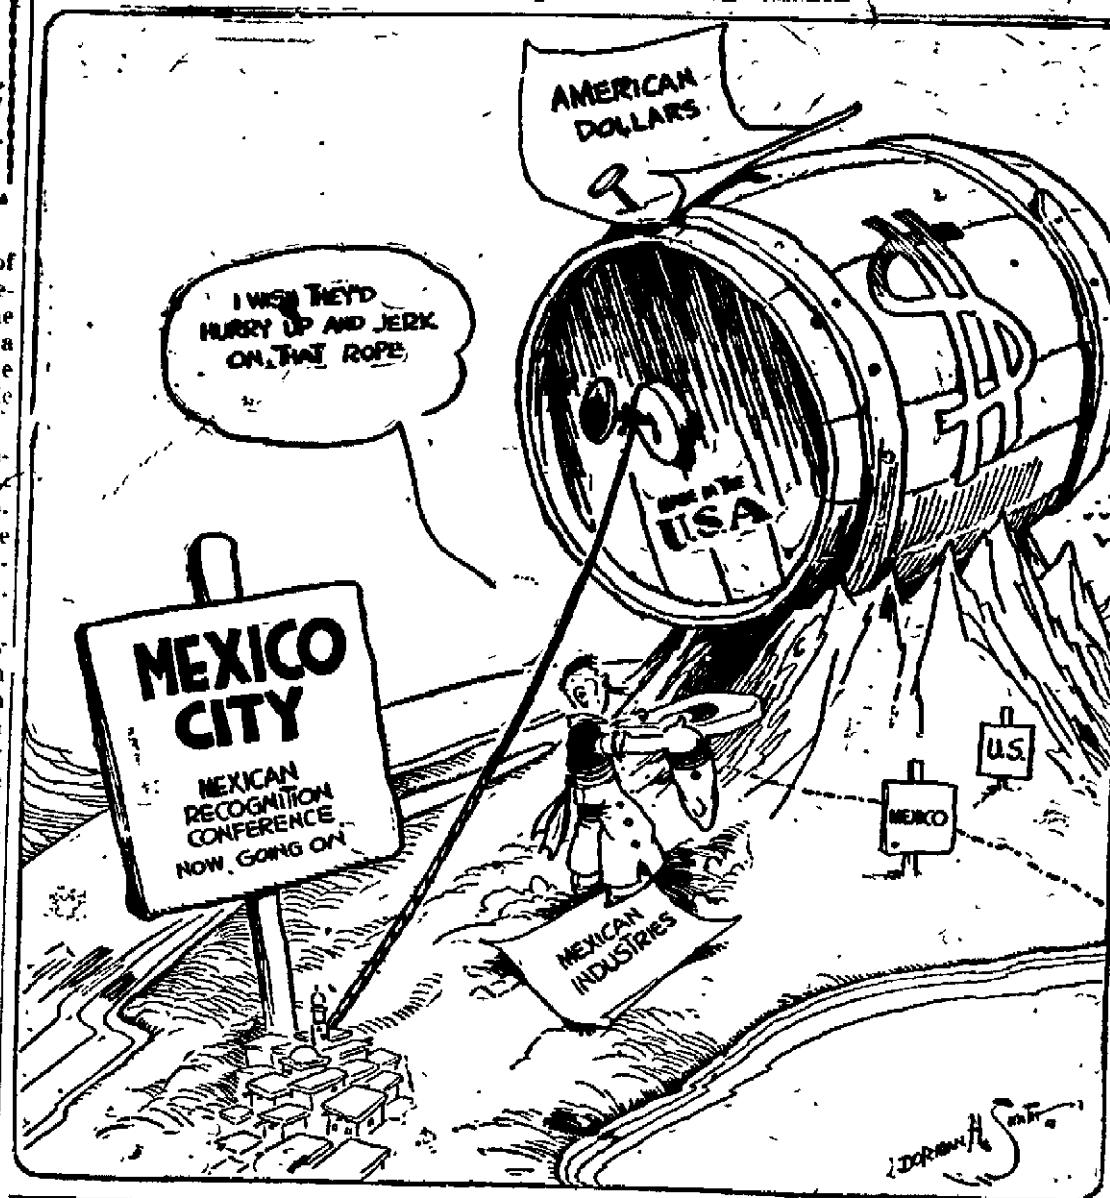

Senator William H. King of Utah says the cards are stacked for the nomination of Warren G. Harding in 1924. He says the policy of the Republican administration is one determined by the plutocratic forces of the party and not by the masses of the party.

Senator William H. King is a democrat. He is a plutocrat? He fought the recognition of Mexico by the Wilson administration. He fought the recognition of Mexico by the Harding administration. He is hostile to bloc legislation unless the bloc legislation appeals to the business interests of the country.

Why all this outcry against bloc legislation? For sixty years the powerful manufacturers of New England and the eminent financiers of New York dictated the legislation of the country. This was known as the financial bloc. Now why rail against a producers bloc?

Former Vice President Thomas Riley Marshall asserts that he could solve the agricultural problem if he had power to send back to the farms every man who says that a back to the farm movement is the one thing needed. Marshall is said to be a humorist. Perhaps he is. There is one thing certain. All the back to the farm advocated live in the cities and towns and in this is included the vast army of writers and lecturers who go up and down the country sounding the slogan.

U. S. CONTINUES FEEDING RUSSIA

But Relief Work Being Liquidated

NEW YORK, July 12.—The general emergency relief work in Russia of the Nansen high commission created by the league of nations assembly will be liquidated on August 13, according to formal notification received from Dr. Nansen by the American-Nansen committee for relief of Russian children.

In making the announcement, Dr. Nansen states that "while many regions of Ukraine and of eastern Russia the consequences of the famine are still terribly felt, and while in certain districts there are still thousands of persons menaced with death from starvation, nevertheless, it does not seem to us possible to prolong the existence of the vast international organization which grouped under the flag of the Nansen Mission the immense humanitarian effort of so many countries."

The Nansen high commission will not, however, withdraw from Russia. Dr. Nansen announces, but will limit its particular activities to the three fields of agricultural reconstruction, food and clothing draft and relief package services, and medical and sanitary relief.

Provisions for the continuation of child-relief among the 4,000,000 abandoned or orphaned children of Russia will be made by Dr. Nansen before his Russian relief work is ended.

Simultaneously, a communication was received from Madame Kamenev, of Russia, and Trotsky's sister, stating that "in connection with the liquidation of the foreign relief organizations we are faced with the necessity of finding, with the utmost urgency, some method of so regulating the diet of the children that the sudden cessation of foreign feeding will not mean the death of many of them before they can be accustomed to the coarse food which will, alone, be available in Russia."

The executive committee of the American-Nansen committee for relief of Russian children, voted to continue relief work for children in Russia after the cessation of the general emergency relief of the Nansen organization, at least through the coming winter.

The number of children effected was given, from data furnished by Dr. Nansen, as 4,000,000 orphan and abandoned children and 1,500,000 underfed children.

NEW HIGHWAY IS NEARING COMPLETION

CLEBURNE, Texas, July 12.—That section of the highway being built from Tarrant county to Hill county, through Johnson county between Cleburne and Joshua, a distance of nine miles, will be finished as to grading within the next 10 days. The concrete work is progressing rapidly.

BOMB KILLS BRIDE AT GERMAN WEDDING

BERLIN, July 12.—The marriage service of a young Jewish couple in Braunau, Bavaria, was turned into a funeral when a nationalist fanatic threw a bomb into the crowd, killing the bride and wounding four of the spectators.

Clerk Has Addition to Family When Child Gives Up Best Friend

ALTO, Texas, July 12.—Jerry Nash, grocery clerk, has an addition to his household. It is fat and sassy, has a wiggle tail and a friendly disposition and answers to the name of Tipsey.

When Jerry opened his door there was Tipsey, with an agitated tail, a soft brown eye, a new collar around its neck, and a note of introduction, which read:

"To the finder of this dog: If you will take good care of her you may have her. Her name is Tipsey. I am a little girl, 10 years old, and I can't keep Tipsey any longer. She will do tricks, pick grass burrs out of children's feet and shake hands with you. She is a very good and sweet dog. Please take good care of her. LUCILLE."

CLEBURNE COPS ARE GIVEN NEW WHISTLES

CLEBURNE, Texas, July 12.—All policemen of Cleburne have been supplied with whistles, and the public generally has been warned to respect them when they are used. As several accidents have occurred recently, the city is trying to teach the drivers of vehicles to obey traffic laws.

"Make the flag stand for something" was the July Fourth cry. And the rest of the year it stands for anything.

HILL COUNTY PLANS TO ADVERTISE FAIR

HILLSBORO, Texas, July 12.—The first excursion of three that are planned to advertise the coming Hill county fair, got under way Tuesday. The Lions Club, the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce will each put on a trip to different parts of the county. The coming fair is expected to be one of the largest ever held here.

BANDIT ATTEMPTS TO ROB NEWSBOYS

DALLAS, Texas, July 12.—Officers are searching for a masked highwayman reported to have held up and attempted to rob two newsboys, Arthur Earnest and Robert Braswell, sold the officers the bandit stepped from behind a tree and held them up, but Fred Speach, 534 Liberty who witnessed the action, shouted and the highwayman fled.

These June college graduates had better admit it to their bosses before it is discovered.

Henry Ford's stand on the presidential question is he will refuse the job unless he gets it.

Two Charming Bridge Parties Feature Social Calendar for Thursday

THURSDAY'S social calendar was featured with two delightful hospitable parties. Mrs. Elmer Russell's visit here with her sister, Mrs. C. L. Wignall, and Mrs. W. K. Steen's departure Saturday for St. Louis to make her home, forming the incentives for the pleasing affairs.

Thursday morning Mrs. Russell was complimented with a charming bridge, which had as hostess Mrs. Harold M. Hoe at her home, 2000 Sixth street.

The home was in lovely adornment for the attractively appointed affair, with gay summer blossoms giving bright touches to color to the rooms given over to the hospitality.

For success in the games Mrs. Frank T. Low was awarded a lovely trophy and Mrs. Russell was presented with a guest favor. Consolation fell to Mrs. T. J. Twomey.

A perfectly appointed luncheon was served after the games, with covers being laid for eighteen guests.

The personnel of the charming hospitality included Mrs. Elmer Russell of Plainview, Mrs. Herbert Henderson, Mrs. George N. Pohl, Mrs. Frank D. Mabry, Mrs. Sydney C. Collins, Mrs. C. L. Wignall, Mrs. Joe Paik, Mrs. Charles Stevenson, Mrs. Frank Y. Low, Mrs. A. Harding, Mrs. Marshall Crawford, Mrs. May Jenkins, Mrs. G. H. Eubank, Mrs. T. J. Twomey, Mrs. C. C. Harrell, Mrs. John W. Tryon, Mrs. Ed Lohmann, and Miss Emma Compton of Harrisburg, Pa.

All-White Still Popular Despite Printed Fabrics

COPYRIGHT BY M. C. CALL

In spite of the popularity of figured and printed fabrics, midsummer brings the all-white costume as it always does.

A white skirt and a white blouse—perhaps a white hat and white shoes as well.

The skirt will be pleated this season and probably of crepe de chine if it's too hot for flannel.

The blouse will be like one of the models sketched. Short sleeved or even sleeveless, it may be plain and tailored in its style or it may be lace trimmed and frilled. White crepe de chine and white silk seem to be the favorite fabrics and they are trimmed with lace, tiny handkerchief pockets, monograms and fine tucks or plaits.

Mrs. W. E. Blackstock, Mrs. P. S. DeWitt, Mrs. N. T. Patter, Mrs. E. J. Smith, Mrs. Leonard Power, Mrs. A. F. Graham, Mrs. H. K. Goodwin, Mrs. J. M. Latham, Mrs. H. Maile, Mrs. C. A. McDonald, Mrs. F. A. Montgomery, Mrs. W. P. Park, and Mrs. C. V. Palmer.

ERNEST NOACK HAS RETURNED FROM DALLAS, where he attended the state convention of the Walther League of the W. O. W. Evangelical Lutheran churches. He was the delegate from the Junior Walther League of the local Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church.

MASTER WILEY HALL STEEN who leaves with his mother, Mrs. W. K. Steen, tomorrow for St. Louis to make their home, has been entertained with several enjoyable entertainments this week.

On Wednesday evening little Miss Jane Drake entertained a few friends with a picture show party, naming as honor guest Wiley Hall Steen. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Drake.

On Thursday evening little Miss Mary Litherland entertained with a picture show party honoring Wiley Hall Steen. Following the picture show they returned to the Litherland home and enjoyed delicious refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Litherland chaperoned the party.

A PLEASANT ENTERTAINMENT was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Baker, 231 East Sixteenth street, Wednesday evening. Victrola selections were enjoyed during the evening and games afforded enjoyable diversion. Mr. Matise entertained with several jokes. Delicious refreshments were served.

Those enjoying the occasion were Misses Jennie Matise, Sybil Henry, Ida Schultz, Margaret Hitt, Ethel Parker, Julia Bailey, Nettie Mae Butts, Ada Gartman, Verdie Gartman, Georgia Baker, Ruby Baker, and Wilba Baker; Messrs. George Cooper, Bob Matise, Jim Hitt, Paul Hitt, Billie Dupree, Charlie Kudalki, Leonard R. Foster, Fred Butts, Roy Henry, Ralph Gillman, M. Matise, Philip Kudalki, Terres Baker, Cecil Tucker, J. C. Tucker, and Waldo Baker. Mrs. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Trelica, and Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Baker and little son, Percy.

MRS. C. V. PALMER WAS COORDINATOR of the Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday afternoon at her home, 1101 Lake Shore drive. Mrs. Palmer was assisted in hostess duties by Mrs. E. J. Smith and Mrs. C. A. McDonald.

Mrs. H. K. Goodwin conducted the devotional service, following which the lesson on topics of interest concerning the mountaineers proved very interesting. Refreshments were served at the close of the lesson study.

Those enjoying the afternoon were Mrs. W. H. Achey, Mrs. I. Baranof, and Mrs. H. K. Goodwin.

THE PHILAS CLASS OF THE First Methodist Episcopal church will entertain with a picnic at Port Neches park this evening. The young people will meet at the church, from which point they will leave promptly at 6:30 o'clock. All members of the class are cordially invited to attend the picnic.

THE USUAL SOCIAL MEETING at the First Methodist church, south, will be held on the third floor of the church this evening at 8 o'clock. The members of the church and the public are cordially invited to attend an entertainment.

When You're Sick, You Want Relief Right Now

With MERRITONE, You Will Immediately Observe Improvement in Your Condition

When you're sick, everything goes wrong. You not only lose money through loss of income, but you lose your health and normal viewpoint of life. Little things will irritate you. It seems that every member of your family is conspiring to make you feel worse. But take a pinch on yourself. You're to blame if you can obtain relief and don't do it.

MERRITONE isn't intended to be a cure-all. It is intended to relieve stomach, kidney, liver and disorders that come from impure blood. And most bodily ailments do come from these very organs, and the disorders that grow out of neglect of them. Mild cases of stomach, liver or kidney trouble if allowed to run their course eventually will become chronic and convert an ordinarily healthy person into an invalid.

This wonderful herb and vegetable compound if taken as directed, will make its effects apparent at once. In mild cases, the recovery will be rapid and complete. In more stubborn cases, it probably will be necessary to continue treatment for a short time.

MERRITONE contains the very ingredients to relieve indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, catarrh of the stomach, neuralgia, liver, kidney and stomach disorders; it purifies and enriches the blood, regulates the bowels and gives the entire system a general tonic up. In fact, it supplies the very elements necessary to prime condition of health, vitality, strength and that feeling of buoyant youth and energy.

TWO CONFESS AS RED ORGANIZERS

Boys Say Rail Brakemen Pass I. W. W.'s Free

PORT WORTH, Texas, July 12.—Laborers expecting to be employed in the Kansas wheat fields must become members of the I. W. W. and show a pass book to ride freight trains in that state and must pledge themselves not to work for less than $5 a day or they will be chased from their jobs by armed "Wobblies," two youths arrested as automobile theft suspects told Port Worth detectives.

Brakemen on the freight trains in Kansas are all members of the organization and permit free rides to every member who carries the official pass book, they said.

George Audiss, 19-year-old son of Syrian parents, who was born in Brenham Texas, and Robin Buck, 20 years old, also of Brenham and both members of the I. W. W. and Texas National guard, according to their own statements, are the youths who made the revelations here.

They were arrested by Detective Salsberg when their actions about a group of parked automobiles excited his suspicions. Searched at police headquarters, one of the I. W. W. dues books was found on Audiss. Buck said he threw his away when the two left Kansas.

"Our membership was solicited on a freight train in Kansas three weeks ago. We told them we were unable to pay the initiation fee and they put us off the train. We snuggled a rear car and were again threatened with being thrown off. I gave them $5 for two memberships and we had to produce the books many times in our travels in Kansas," Audiss told Salsberg and Police Commissioner Alderman.

"Wobblies are working the trains in droves. The brakemen are all members and are in league with the workers," he said.

"We were harassed by the I. W. W. in the fields and in our camps. They refused to let us have peace. Every man who refused to join lost his job and was out of luck when it came to riding a train out of the state," the Brenham youth continued.

Interrogated by Commissioner Alderman as to the strength of the organization and its operations, Buck said that the state was filled with them and that each train coming into Kansas carrying laborers had from 20 to 75 representatives of the I. W. W. there to solicit memberships.

According to Salsberg he followed the two youths and another boy whom they claim to have met in Muskogee, for 12 blocks down Commerce street and that his attention was attracted by the strange actions of looking over every group of parked automobiles. When the membership book was found on Audiss, both youths were free in discussing their associations with the "wobblies" and denounced the organization strongly.

An investigation is being made by police into the character of the two boys and their boasted military record.

DENISON MOTORISTS ROBBED ON HIGHWAY

DENISON, Texas, July 12.—Walker Smith and Miss Dolly Price, well-known Denison young people, were held up and robbed of $45 and two watches, in Munson park, a mile north of the city. They were motorizing in the park when two men stepped from another automobile and forced them to alight. While the highwaymen were searching Smith's pockets, another automobile drove in view. Smith and his companion were then forced to enter a field near the road, where the robbery was completed. Smith is a railway postal clerk, while Miss Price is employed by a local wholesale hardware concern.

BOY ADMITS GUILT IN FATAL TRAIN CRASH

BUTTE, Mont., July 12.—Archibald McArthur, 11 years old, today confessed breaking the lock on the switch at Blackstone, on the Northern Pacific railroad, yesterday, causing the accident to No. 41, the Burlington west-bound train, which resulted in the death of four persons, according to Howard Johnson, county attorney of Jefferson county.

CARNIVALS ON TABOO AT WEATHERFORD, TEX.

WEATHERFORD, Texas, July 12.—An ordinance has been passed by the city commission prohibiting the holding of carnivals within the city limits. A report made at a recent meeting of the city commission showed that the city is now on a cash basis, paying cash for all purchases at the end of every 20 days, thereby taking photographs with an inscription in his advantage of all discounts.

Main Street Detectives Land Ex-Mayor in Jail

By NEA Service

MELVIN, Mich. July 12.—Because the amateur detectives of Main street continued working when regular law enforcers ceased their efforts, William John McPhee, former mayor of this village, is today behind the bars of Sault Ste. Marie jail, charged with murder.

McPhee, formerly a leading political figure and the most popular man in this county, was seized after a coroner's jury named him in connection with the slaying of his wife, Esther, whose death was thought due to natural causes by everyone—save the Sherlock Holmes of Main street.

The charred body of Mrs. McPhee was found in the ruins of the McPhee home here when it was destroyed by fire March 6 of this year.

McPhee appeared grief-stricken. The fire, he declared, had originated in his wife's chamber when a kerosene lamp exploded. He told authorities he had made repeated attempts to reach the blazing room and rescue the woman but that smoke and fumes had driven him back.

Inquest Held

The half-consumed bones were removed from the ruins. A hasty inquest was held and the remains were buried in the village churchyard. The dead woman's estate was settled—it consisted of a scant $4000, which went to the husband.

Then McPhee told his friends he could no longer endure the memories inspired by the surroundings of Melvin. He went to Detroit, where he engaged in business.

But Main street tongues began to wag.

Why, they demanded, hadn't McPhee been able to rescue his wife since, in their opinion, the fire was not in an advanced stage when McPhee discovered it?

Early in June a petition demanding an investigation was drafted, signed by 200 people, and forwarded to the state authorities at Lansing.

Exhumed Body

The state sent Homer Rutledge, state fire marshal, to open a probe. Rutledge declared his conviction that the McPhee fire could have resulted only from incendiary causes.

Then came an inquiry from Inspector Robert J. West. An order for the exhumation of Mrs. McPhee's body was secured. Physicians declared the skull and both legs were missing and that it would have been difficult for them to have been consumed by fire.

Meanwhile McPhee had returned to Melvin on his own volition to await the outcome of the probe.

July 2, Sheriff John Bradford in overalls, called together a coroner's jury from the streets and inlayfields. The jury met under a tree in the churchyard beside the casket of Mrs. McPhee, still covered with moist earth.

It decided Mrs. McPhee had met with foul play and accused her husband. A state officer took him into custody a little later—while the detectives of Main street looked on in triumph.

Send Your Signature By Wire! It's Easy!

PARIS, July 12.—Absolute fascination of telegraph messages in the original handwriting of the sender, now being sent every day over the French government lines by the Bertha system, which is an adaptation of the inventor's method of transmitting photographs by wire.

The sender of the telegram writes it on ordinary paper which is placed on a revolving cylinder and by the play of lights and mirrors, as in the case of transmission of photographs, the exact script is sent over the wire. It is much cheaper than the ordinary telegram at least for messages of more than one hundred words. For the cost of the telegram is a flat rate of 20 francs, the number of words being limited only by the size of the writing.

For instance in one case a stenographer sent from Lyons to Paris a message of 1,400 words, in shorthand notes, which was written on the cylinder of about the same size as an ordinary telegraph blank. In this way about one column of a newspaper could be sent for about $1.25. The system is very fast. The operation of sending the stenographic message from Lyons took only six minutes.

If the telegram had been written in ordinary script and sent by a fast telegraph it would have required 25 minutes, at the rate of 60 words a minute, and the cost, at the current rate, would have been about $10.

This method of authentic transmission of telegrams is now open to the public, the necessary apparatus having been installed in the government telegraph offices of the larger cities. There is no reason why a person could not actually send his own end of every 20 days, thereby taking photographs with an inscription in his own handwriting over the wire.

Who's Bashful? Not California

By A. H. FREDERICK

Writer for NEA Service

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—California has never been modest concerning the beauties and advantages of their state, from climate to customs. A year ago the propagandizing of northern and central California was gone into as a sectional business proposition.

Since that time the Californians, Inc., as the organization is called, has spread broadcast through magazines and newspapers data calculated to induce the easterner to come to California.

In this year it has been found necessary to increase the Californian are freed.

office force from a few to 50 to handle the 121,500 letters of inquiry.

The organization estimates, as a result of its work, 10,000 newcomers have settled here, some with money, some with only the capital of health and a willingness to work—agriculturalists, manufacturers, laborers.

When the Californians let it be known that they were open to donations for their second year's work, they found a ready response.

Clara Phillips, "hammer slayer," now at San Quentin penitentiary, has turned philosopher.

"I had to develop a philosophy, or else get queer," she says. "I preferred the philosophy."

"Everybody here has her choice between the two: and anyone who doesn't believe the barred cell philosophy of redemption does get queer. I'm determined not to do that."

Her principal recreations are in letter writing and making clothes for herself. This is allowed, though the women cannot wear them until they are freed.

"Women are women no matter where you put them," explains Clara. "Why, I actually saw one prisoner here crying because the mail order house from which she had ordered some dress goods had sent her the wrong kind."

"It didn't really make any difference because she could not have worn the dress for years to come anyway, and then it would have been out of style. But being a woman she wanted what she wanted."

The cosmopolitan of San Francisco has long been cited.

A concrete example of it was the bulletin board of "Shanghai Events" at the Palace hotel recently.

These events, for one day, were:

- An Italian wedding.
- A Greek christening.
- A meeting of Chinese business men.
- A Jewish bridge party.
- A Catholic wedding breakfast.
- A Masonic dance and reception.

FRENCH TROOPS QUIT BARMEN

Occupation Merely Punitive, Says Report

BERLIN, July 12.—Just as Germany was trying to figure out the advantages for this country forecast in the statement of British policy, outlined by Premier Baldwin, news was received here today that French troops had advanced in Westphalia and occupied Barmen.

This city, an important industrial center of nearly 200,000 inhabitants, is one of the most important in the Rhineland, and its seizure is a blow to Germany. It had been hoped here that France would desist from further advances in view of the British statement.

Barmen and Elberfeld later were evacuated, with announcement the occupation was merely a punitive measure against civil German police of those cities.

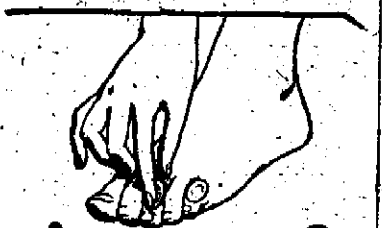

But now for the first time, with the coming of the National Education, they are stumped, judging by an inquiry received at the Chamber of Commerce recently.

"Say," a voice over the wire said, "own the famous one of San Francisco's well-known 'bright life' restaurants and I was wondering if you could tell me how much, if any, school teachers 'step out' when they're away from home."

PIGEON RACES 1,832 MILES TO TEXAS HOME

EDMONTON, Alta., July 12.—A racing pigeon released here May 28, has returned to its home in San Antonio, Texas, according to a telegram received by Mayor Duggan.

The distance flown by the bird was given as 1,832 miles, and it was stated that the greatest distance previously known to have been flown by a pigeon was 1,680 miles.

President Harding's Ambition Is to Own And Live on a Farm

ON TOUR WITH PRESIDENT HARDING, July 12.—President Harding, revealed his ambition, speaking in Idaho to a group of farmers, Mr. Harding said:

"I want to own a farm. I've got one now, too. Some day, I want to go there and put a sign on the fence that will say: 'This farm belongs to W. G. H.' Anybody that doesn't agree with me can drive right on and jump in the river."

Mountain trout caught by Idaho sportsmen, were presented to the presidential party at Pocatello and Idaho Falls. Were they good? The answer was unanimous.

Just after Mr. Harding's train entered Idaho it stopped at Cache Junction. An Indian, who had heard that the Great White Chief was aboard, applied for free passage on the train to Salt Lake City. Told that it was going in the opposite direction, he then announced he wanted to go to Pocatello. He was turned over to Sec.

regary of the Idaho Work, who gave him 25 cents and put him on a train following the president's.

Mrs. Harding has been presented with enough flowers to date to keep a hospital supplied for a month. Her one regret is that she cannot send these blossoms to soldiers hospitals before they wither in the heat of the train. Whenever possible, she has sent the flowers to such hospitals.

President Harding has been just as much "on the job" while on his special train as though he were in Washington. A telephone in his car has kept him in constant touch with the White House. Whenever his train stops in a town for more than half an hour, the telephone is "plugged in" and in two minutes he can be talking to the White House.

Similar telephones have been provided for the press association correspondents. Members of the press accompanying Mr. Harding have called their connections in Washington, getting the connections within two minutes of putting in the call. This two-minute record was made from Salt Lake City, and the newspaper man who put in the call could hear his wife in their Washington home as plainly as though he had been sitting in the room talking to her.

FLIER PLANNING RECORD FLIGHT

Claire Vance Would Hold
Coast-to-Coast Trip

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—A transcontinental airplane flight, without a stop between Crissy field, San Francisco, and Mitchell field, New York, is what Claire K. Vance, United States air mail pilot between San Francisco and Reno, Nev., plans to perform this summer.

In his proposed flight, Vance will use a plane built entirely by himself during the past year, based on plans selected from all known data on airplane construction, driven by a motor he purchased with his own funds. Every bit of wood, metal and wire which has gone into the plane's construction has been purchased by Vance with funds from his own pocket. Vance describes his proposed flight with the air of a young father over the points of a newly delivered son. "I don't know where I got the idea, but it came to me about a year ago," he said, "that I'd like to hang up one record while I'm young and healthy. Ever since I was a kid in school I've wanted to be a first-class aviator. I suppose I have been flying-crazy."

To cross in 24 hours
"Transcontinental flying is the big thing now. Owing to the difference in time between the east and west coasts, the carrying of mail and other matter which cannot be sent by wire, is delayed in transmission even with the relay system we use in the air mail. I thought it would be a good stunt if somebody could fix up a plane which would get across the country in one day of 24 hours. Then I got in thinking that maybe I could pull it off."

"The plane is the thing in a cross-country flight. Sufficient gasoline to run the motor for the distance to be traversed, a strong motor that will do its stuff, and an airplane so built as to curves as to help the motor as much as possible, and afford the necessary speed are necessities. It's simple enough, but there's co-ordination needed that can be found now only in the large planes such as the 72's. The real problem of successful and speedy and economical flying, particularly transcontinental flying, lies in the development of the small plane."

So, in a shop on Greenwich street, Vance began the building of his plane. After pouring over a mass of data, Vance turned to Teuton construction for wing curves, designed his fuselage so that he could get in a gasoline tank of the necessary capacity, made arrangements for his motors and started work.

It was early this spring before he and a few volunteer mechanics, who helped in their spare time, could complete the building of the plane itself. The first flight proved successful, but two Salmon motors he had bought at a high figure, developed ailments and it was found that grease smeared over the parts within the motor had hardened during their period of non-use and had to be cleaned out.

This was done with both motors and both were tested in the plane and found to work only fairly well. It is this motor trouble that has delayed a flight, which probably will not be held until August.

Carries 550 Gallons
The plane itself is a pencil-looking bird, but in a revolution in maneuvering in the air. Its wings are thick, the upper being of one piece, the lower of three pieces with the center rigidly anchored to the fuselage. The fuselage itself has a prolate nose, keeping a long oval stream-line shape to its very tail. The big gasoline tank, to hold 550 gallons, will be placed in the forward part of the fuselage behind the motor and forward of the driver's seat.

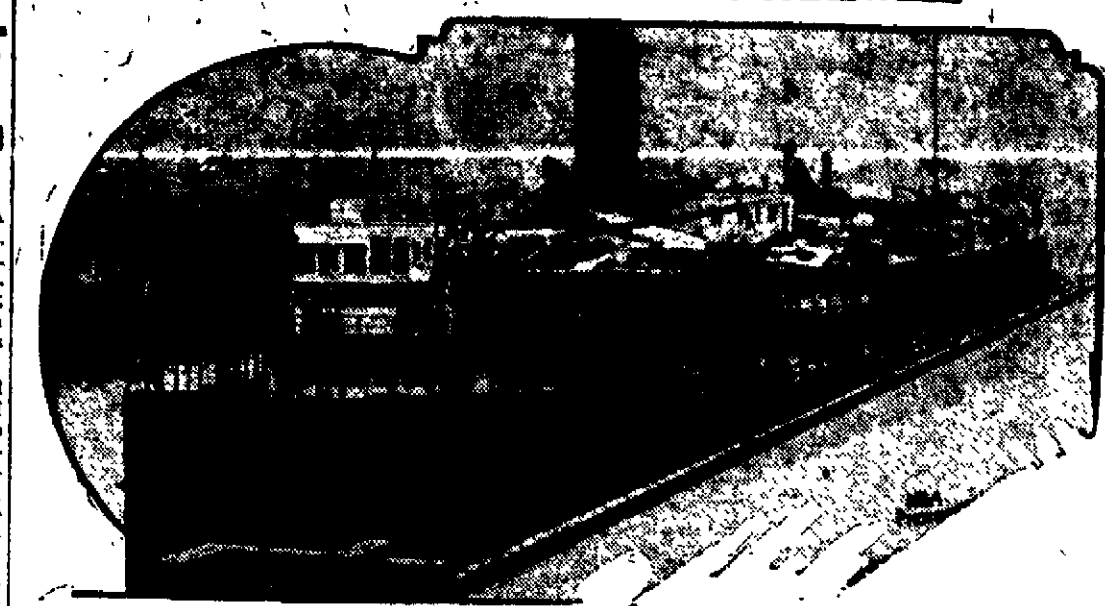

250-horsepower motor
The 250-horsepower motor develops 250 horsepower and a speed of 122 miles an hour when the plane is fully loaded, increasing its appetite for mileage as the load grows lighter with the consumption of gasoline. The motor is water-cooled, the radiator, which sits between the spoke-like cylinders and the propeller, holding fifteen gallons of water.

Although clumsy as it appears on the ground, in the air Vance's plane is almost swallow-like in its movements and, according to the builder and pilot, handles with remarkable ease. Thorough tests which have been given it have all proven successful. Vance claims.

Vance places a value of $12,000 on the plane—which weighs 2,200 pounds gross, fully loaded, with the pilot in his place.

Was in World War
Vance himself had an interesting air career. He enlisted in the flying corps shortly before the United States entered the world war, and trained at several fields in the central west. From Chino, Ill., he was sent overseas, where it was discovered that he possessed the unusual faculty of being able to fly any make of plane with little or no instruction. He was made an instructor at Tours, and American aviator in mastering the temperamental peculiarities of French planes. He held the rank of first lieutenant.

AFTER THE TORNADO HAD SAID FAREWELL

This shows the battered "City of Buffalo," when it docked at Cleveland, O., after passing through a terrible but brief tornado on Lake Erie, en route from Buffalo.

Thus he lost a chance to do any fighting or observation work, but after the armistice he piloted one of the photographic planes that mapped the entire front for army war college records.

Upon returning to the United States and receiving his discharge, Vance went into commercial flying and from that into the air mail service. He has flown over every leg of the air route west of Cleveland. He is only 26 years old and unmarried.

Only two near-accidents have occurred to Vance in his six years of flying. Once, when he was attempting to hop-off at Elko Springs, Nev., with Eddie Rickenbacker as a passenger, the plane slipped and was wrecked, but both he and Rickenbacker escaped without injury. On another occasion Vance was battling a 90-mile gale high over the Sierra range in Nevada when he ran out of gasoline. He glided several hundred feet into a valley, landing his plane on a frozen lake covered thickly with snow. The spot was only a few rods from a transcontinental line flag station at Soda Springs, so he transferred his mail to the limited and carried it to Reno.

Wheat Price Crash May Cost Farmers of U. S. $600,000,000

Farm Bureau Head Says
Speculators Have Capitalized
Increased Production
By Foreign Nations

WASHINGTON, July 12.—American farmers stand to lose from $350,000,000 to $600,000,000 on their 1935 wheat crop if forced to dispose of it at current falling prices, farm leaders estimated here today.

With the cost of producing wheat ranging from $1.20 to $1.00 and farm price per bushel now quoted through-out the wheat belt at 80 to 85 cents, with prospects of it going lower, economists say farmers this year will have to take losses from 35 to 60 cents per bushel, unless means are found to hold the crop.

Aggregate Ruinous Figure
Based on the estimated crop of 821,000,000 bushels less 30,000,000 bushels for seed, or a net crop of 791,000,000 bushels at 85 cents loss would amount to $250,000,000 while the 60 cent loss would aggregate the ruinous figure of $600,000,000 for the entire wheat belt.

The sole element of hope in the situation, many leaders say, is the warehousing of much of the present crop until conditions for its disposal are better. The storage to be financed by the new agricultural credit machinery provided by the last congress.

The falling price of wheat, it was explained here today, are not due to the domestic situation so much as to the world situation. Three important factors of this situation are:

1.—A carryover of about 300,000,000 bushels for the entire world at the beginning of the present crop year, far greater than any carryover before.

2.—The return of production of European countries.

"Speculators are capitalizing the situation brought about by increased wheat production in Canada and foreign countries," said Gray Silver, head of the American bureau farmer organizations.

DETROIT POLICE HAVE MYSTERIOUS PRISONER

DETROIT, Mich., July 13.—A mysterious stranger is being held at the local police station. Efforts to learn his identity have proven futile, and the prisoner would say a word about his past. He spends his time making faces at the policeman around the sergeant's desk.

The stranger was arrested by Patrolman Frank Kelly after a fight one night a couple of weeks ago. Facing his beat, Kelly looked into the starless sky thinking of "Not a real old time thrill for several weeks now."

Kelly mused to himself. When "Zowie! Biff! Bang!"

An invisible hand had grabbed out from nowhere and was feeling for Kelly's throat! A weight had fallen on the policeman's shoulders. Two clawing hands were trying to grip his throat.

Unable to see or touch his attacker, Kelly reached for his gun. The attempt to jerk out the gun, Kelly fell to the ground, the cold, soft hands still gripping at his neck.

A clever wrestling move, and Kelly had his prisoner in his grasp. Now the police department wants someone to come get the monkey.

TEXAS TEACHER VISITS IN EAST

Sees Ex-University Tutors
While on Trip

AUSTIN, Texas, July 13.—Dr. Robert A. Law, professor of English in the University of Texas, who has recently returned from a meeting of the conference of English and American professors of English held in New York City, reports having seen a number of former members of the English faculty of the university while in the east.

Among the number was William Tanner, a graduate of the University of Texas and for several years an instructor in English. He has since served as associate professor of English at Boston University and has been granted a leave of absence from that institution for the coming year to complete work on his Doctor's degree at Harvard.

Another former English instructor whom Dr. Law saw was R. Stanley Ashby, also a graduate of the university. Mr. Ashby is now serving as assistant in English at Harvard.

Emory Holloway, M. A. of the University of Texas and instructor in English and now full professor of English in Delphi college in Brooklyn, N. Y., also attended the meeting. H. E. Rollins, also M. A. of Texas and instructor in English, has since received his Doctor's degree from Harvard and is now assistant professor of English in New York university. Dr. Law states that Mr. Rollins has published two books on Broadside Ballads and has three more in press.

Dr. Harold M. Ellis, formerly instructor in English, is now head of the department of English in the University of Maine.

Charles R. Thackerall, once a member of the University of Texas, English faculty and now professor of English in the University of Chicago, told Dr. Law of his intention of studying abroad for fifteen months.

Besides the former members of the English staff, Dr. Law saw Dr. W. G. Battle, professor of classical languages, who has been on leave of absence at Harvard for the past semester, but who will return to Texas in the fall.

PLAN CHICAGO TO BE WORLD WHEAT CENTER

CHICAGO, July 13.—The National Wheat Council today is completing plans for Chicago to replace Liverpool as the wheat capital of the world.

The council, an outgrowth of the recent wheat conference here, is preparing a permanent organization to direct the marketing of the nation's wheat production.

The permanent body is expected to be ready within a few weeks to market the crop of the farmer that he may secure a better price for his wheat than that regulated by Liverpool quotations.

Headquarters of the council will be in Chicago. Besides the ideal geographical location, the Chicago Board of Trade is the most important factor in the American grain markets, it is pointed out.

Chicago's leadership in the American wheat industry, once disputed by Kansas City, St. Louis and Minneapolis, has been made secure by the spectacular operations of such grain dealers as James A. Patten, "wheat king," and the Army "wheat company," the council claims.

A minority group at the conference here failed in an attempt to fix a flat price of $1.50 for American wheat.

Flappers are Under Control Of Spirits, Says Medium

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 13.—Blame naughty spirits, who steal their way back into this world from the gray beyond for all the flappers, the lipsticks, the rouge and other sources of the puritanical exclaims the Rev. Mrs. Adeline Cooper, pastor of the Lone Star Spiritualist church of this city.

In a statement before the greatest state convention of spiritualists in the history of the faith the noted Syracuse medium and clairvoyant declared progression is the rule of the "land beyond," just as much as it is of earth. She continued:

"Just as one times all classes of individuals in this life, so one will find all classes of spirits. When a girl of today resorts to the use of lowly cosmetics, it is the desire of some spirit, unable to paint and powder in the ethereal state that induces the indulgence."

"So it is with all vice. The drug fiend would not grovel for his daily 'shot of dope' were it not for the unsatisfied craving of some spirit which has not grown in the spiritual being and which needs must come back to this sphere and influence."

"Nine-tenths of all the murders committed are the result of revengeful feeling unprogressive spirit exerts. We are at the mercy of these spiritual beings unless we, here on earth, so progress as to have reached a higher plane where their influence cannot contaminate us, where their being cannot take possession."

Mrs. Cooper, however, gives the spirit land dwellers credit as well as censure. She declares that all the great inventions—all the benefits of mankind—are the result of the promptings and coachings of the good spirits.

Such men as Edison and Marconi—and the dreamers who make their dreams come true—Mrs. Cooper avers, are the protégés of the grayish white eternal beings.

"Love in the next world? Plenty of love, plenty of romance, but so controlled that there are none of the sordid tangles, none of the jealous and heartaches, despite the existence of these naughty spirits," avers the Lone Star pastor.

U. S., Mexico to Build New Auto Highway

NAGOLEES, Sonora, Mexico, July 13.—Conferees are under way here between Chamber of Commerce members of this city and those of Nogales, Ariz., across the line, looking toward construction of a new road between the international boundary line here and the Gulf of California, in a southwesterly direction, which it is planned to make one of the finest automobile highways in Mexico.

The projected line will follow in a measure a road now in operation. This road will be shortened in places, grades reduced, new stretches built, good bridges installed, and other improvements made.

Toward construction of the road the state of Sonora has pledged one-third of the cost. Another third is pledged from the federal treasury of Mexico, and Nogales, Sonora and Nogales, Arizona, will raise the remaining third.

The road will be one of great natural and historical interest. Along the route, at Saric, Tubutama, and Cajonera are three great mission churches, erected by Father Francisco Encinas, Kino, the Jesuit missionary who built 23 churches in the region embraced in southern Arizona during the mission work here between 1680 and 1711, when he died.

Mr. Felipe, South Bend, Ind., golfer, made a hole in one, but is resting fairly well.

OIL BOOM IN S. A.

HUENOS AIRES, July 13.—As a market for supplies connected with the petroleum industry Argentina is rapidly becoming important. Several years ago there was scarcely any development of the oil resources of the country by private capital. Today private companies are working with a combined capital of nearly $20,000,000. Many wells are being drilled.

Not many returning vacationists have changed much, and less than that have much change.

Artie soon becomes so disgusted with the work of delivering groceries that he resigns, as he calls it.

He seeks the advice of an uncle in business, who suggests that he had better resume his duties along lines that will prepare him for more congenial employment.

"Wonder if he's right," says Artie.

The advice of older people, particularly experienced business men, is of great value to young people, but this good advice is often disregarded, no sought advice particularly so.

Our experience in training students for business positions and in helping them secure positions, when the course is completed, is offered for your benefit.

Pampas Bull Mauls Way to Victory Over Old Jesse Willard

Battered, Beaten, Ex-Cowboy Champ Takes Count in 8th

Uncultured in Ring Tactics, Luis Angel Firpo Puts Sudden End to 'Comeback' Pug, as Latter Takes Kayoe on Bended Knee

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, July 13.—Down on one knee in his own corner, his red battered sides heaving, his mouth gaping and his glassy eyes staring at nothing, Jesse Willard, former champion of the world, entered himself on the books last night in Jersey City.

Battered down by a furious right hand attack that had all the power of a mountain boulder tumbling down from the peaks, Willard was counted out in the eighth round while the hairy American caveman, stood back of him snorting for more.

Willard took out of the ring with him about $130,000, a "tin ear" and a fine razzing. The crowd thought he had quit ignominiously. Some still think the same way.

More than 100,000, the largest crowd that ever saw a boxing match, witnessed the giants of North and South America battle for a chance to meet Jack Dempsey for the world's championship.

The house was almost solid for a Willard victory. Thousands of Firpo's countrymen were packed in the dense mass, but their voices were lost in a tumult that arose in the fifth round when it seemed that Willard was to win. Like a college football game at a football game, the huge crowd rose to its feet and yelled in a war-rattle tempo, "come on, Jess, come on," when Willard cracked Firpo under the eye with a terrific left hand and knocked the South American staggering to the ropes.

That one punch was the nearest Willard came to victory. His own men and the south of a powerful surge were all against him and he wilted until his legs sagged beneath him and he hadn't the strength to continue even if his heart prompted him, and his vanity spurred him to continue.

It was not one punch that sent the huge Kansas in a collapse. His knees after one minute and fifty seconds of the eighth round. It was a barrage of vicious right hands to the head and body.

Falling to reach the altitude where Willard had two ponderous arms guarding his jaw, Firpo switched his tactics and started driving for the body. Little rolls of fat hung over the trunk of the former champion and Firpo made them "shimmy" with piling blows.

Willard and the south of a powerful surge were all against him and he wilted until his legs sagged beneath him and he hadn't the strength to continue even if his heart prompted him, and his vanity spurred him to continue.

On one knee, Willard heard the count tolled over him. In his corner, just a few feet away and above the din of the crowd, could be heard the exhortations of Jack Skelly and Scotty Monteth. The Willard seconds "get up, Jess, get up."

Willard shook his head and waved his hands in a feeble effort to silence the orders of those who wanted him to further submit himself to the fury of an enraged opponent who was foaming rage from his every pore.

The former champion listened to "Get up" and seemed to snap out of a trance when the referee slapped him on the back and said: "He's here. Get over there and fight."

Willard did not need much fixing. He was not out of his head. His physical powers had failed him and after a short rest he was able to walk out of the corner and shuffle through the crowd within earshot of many nasty remarks.

Firpo was winning by a wide margin of points up to the time of the knockout. The South American had won the first, second, fourth, sixth and seventh rounds. Willard had taken the fifth and by the exercise of a little consideration for the venerable Kansas, the third might have been called even.

Thought Row Would End a 5 Round Bout

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, surveyed with some surprise today an announcement of the progress of Luis Firpo, "wild bull of the pampas," toward the goal of "logical contender." "I thought that if Firpo was going to get him, he would do so in the first five or six rounds," the champion said, commenting on the Argentine's victory over Willard last night.

COURAGE WINS FOR WASHINGTON

Unconquerable Spirit Proves Strong Factor

NEW YORK, July 13.—Courage—the kind that made David whip Goliath, Daniel brave the lions, boat-house and Napoleon fight forever—is the leading on the chapter in rowing history which records the recent victory of the University of Washington in the inter-collegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie.

The crew from Puget Sound made a 2,000 mile trip across the continent to the Palisades, only to find a few days before the big race that fate was working against them. Daw Walling, the start stroke, got a scratch on his knee. The doctors scratched blood poison. There were hasty consultations and it was finally decided that he might row, though his knee was pained and stiff.

Walling rowed all right. He pushed his boat ahead at the opportune moment in the second mile, kept it there and fought off the Navy in a desperate finish.

It was a fitting setting for the great scene. A misty, discouraging dawn blew from the east and the gloom of night was settling over the punt palisades which shadow the Hudson. Just before the race Washington was not considered to have more than a ghost of a chance.

With Walling in excellent condition, the Washington crew was not considered more than a "dark horse." But that didn't worry the westerners. It seemed they had planned to win this particular race and they didn't care much whether the fate was with them or not. They were going to win anyway.

They planned every move out in detail. They fixed it so the coxswain would wave a little red flag when they held the lead and avoid the situation which developed last year, when they were unable to hear the race swain and let the Navy steal the race from them in the last few yards. The signal worked perfectly and helped them immeasurably when the Navy crew started its sprint down the stretch.

But all the plans and red flags in the world would have done them no good, if they didn't have the blooded determination of thoroughbred sportsmen to fight all odds and win.

BUDDIES! Luis Angel Firpo and Jack Macauliffe II, who fought so ferociously against each other at the Polo Grounds milk fund exhibition, now are buddies. They have been training together at the same place, eat at the same table, but together at exhibitions and yet neither of them can understand a word the other says.

Firpo's rugged intelligence has not yet been able to master the English language, and Macauliffe knows not one word of Spanish.

But they have breached the chasm which might have separated them when Firpo pounded Macauliffe to a pulp.

"Catching Duck" Proves Popular Feature in Nat Water Stunts Carnival

Diminutive Mary Patten, Messrs. Russell, Reed and Henry, Add Bit of Color to Thursday Night Program At Plaza Pool

"Catch the Duck" was the new sport introduced at the Plaza Nat last night.

And it proved, perhaps one of the most entertaining attractions, local "duckers" ever took a whack at.

Instructor Harry L. Coughlin introduced several ducks to test Arthur's famous swimmers and promptly announced that the ducks had never been in the water before, which, according to their owner, was the truth. However, the dry-land quackers proved very adequately that they needed no swimming lessons from anyone, and gave their captors such a merry chase that it was necessary in the end for Instructor Coughlin to invoke the aid of every swimmer in the pool to help catch the last duck.

The last duck really wasn't captured, either, as Coughlin explained, he having plunged into the water and then having come up in the hands of all the boys in the pool. Up until that time he had been furnishing considerable amusement by submerging in one corner of the swimming hole and re-appearing in entirely another locality, alone and apparently unperturbed. And all the way, friend duck seemed to be having as much fun as those who were oft after him.

The new stunt went over "big." Coughlin said this morning, in commenting on the duck chase, "and we're going to have some more of that kind of fun next stunt night, perhaps."

A feature attraction at the Nat last night was the appearance of Miss Mary Patten, diminutive Port Arthur maid declared to be one of the most graceful swimmers in the city. In fact, in the words of the natatorium instructor, the best for her size in town. Miss Patten brought forth much applause in a water diving stunt, which she executed with the ease and grace of a water nymph.

Messrs. Russell, Reed and Henry furnished an entertaining part of the water carnival in a number of fancy diving tricks, which each participant carried out to the perfection of a professional. The details of the high-diving board in the Nat as well as on the springing boards show just what courage will do in the water—and they displayed plenty of it.

The water polo clash, a usual attraction on "stunt night," brought a number of boys into the pool for the real old-fashioned water spree, and wound up with everybody getting "ducked" properly.

Instructor Coughlin concluded the evening's entertainment with some fancy swimming which drew the praise of his auditors, and which revealed to those who watched some of the latest swimming strokes.

"If you missed stunt night last night," an ardent admirer of the occasion said this morning, "you missed a real treat."

TENNIS CHAMP STAR ON LINKS

Maurice McLoughlin Turns To Putting Greens

The golf term seems to spread quickly to the champion in other sports.

For years the stars of the baseball world have been strong for golf. Many of the diamond celebrities spend their mornings on the links.

Golf is now spreading to the tennis champs.

There comes a time when tennis becomes a bit strenuous. In a sense tennis is a game for the young. Conventional plays a leading part in one's tennis game. There also is a strain on the heart that calls for physical perfection to withstand it.

Two former tennis stars now doing big things in golf, are Maurice McLoughlin, the "California comet," the sensation of international tennis play a dozen years back, and Miss Mary K. Browne, twice winner of the national women's singles title.

McLoughlin also is a former national singles champion, and is generally credited with being the first tennis star to develop the hand driving, fast net game. When he came east his electrified tennis enthusiasts in that section by his unusual style of play.

While he still plays a bit of tennis, McLoughlin much prefers golf. McLoughlin hits a long ball, and at times plays a fine short game. In this feature of play, however, he is a trifle erratic. Coast experts figure that another year's experience will go to improve McLoughlin's game that he will be able to hold his own in the big national events if he so desires.

Like McDonald, Miss Browne is noted for her driving ability. She is rated the longest driver among women on the Pacific coast today. In all probability she will come east to play in some of the big golfing events this year, possibly the national championship.

FORD FOR PREXY CLUB TO CONFAB

Huge Convention To Be Held At Dearborn Soon

DETROIT, July 12.—The Ford-for-President boom will soon move forward under a national organization according to plans of the Dearborn Ford-for-President Club, here.

A convention of the Ford-for-President clubs in Michigan will be held in Dearborn in the near future, and similar clubs throughout the nation will be invited to send representatives to the convention. Rev. Dr. William Dawe, president of the Dearborn Ford-for-President Club, announced.

Exact date for the convention has not been decided, but when selected it will be far enough off to allow for arrival of delegates from all parts of the country, it was stated.

Sentiment for the candidacy of Henry Ford for the presidential nomination in 1936 is so great that the proposed convention will certainly develop into a national affair, in the opinion of Rev. Dr. Dawe.

Third Party Planned

The aims of the convention will be to form a third national political party to nominate Ford and elect him to the presidency, Dawe declared.

National pressure in the interest of Ford has become so great that the first Ford-for-President Club, at Dearborn, cannot ignore the tremendous expansion of their own spontaneous action and fail to see the widespread desire for a third party, Dawe said.

Plans for the convention of Ford boosters were talked over at the last meeting of the Dearborn Club, according to Dawe. At present the club is busy broadcasting pictures of the automobile manufacturer and planning on a systematic distribution of Ford-for-President literature. Expense of pictures and literature is being borne solely by the members of the Dearborn Club, it was asserted.

Following the proposed convention of Ford boosters, Ford-for-President clubs will be organized in every hamlet, town and city in every state in the Union, all clubs to work toward the mutual goal of electing Ford president, according to plans outlined by Dawe.

TEXAS U. TESTS AUSTIN WATER

Hydraulic Engineer Is in Charge of Investigation

AUSTIN, Texas, July 12.—Some of the most important work being done in the University of Texas chemical laboratories at the present time is the testing of the Austin water supply. John B. Hawley, of Fort Worth, who has been employed by the Austin city council in making the test. He will also make investigation of the filtration, source and other matters in connection with the water supply of the city.

Mr. Hawley is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and is recognized as one of the leading hydraulic engineers in the southwest. He took part in building the water supply systems of Fort Worth, Paris, Breckenridge, and other Texas cities.

2 Held in $2000 Bond In Grease-Feather Case

HOUSTON, July 12.—Two of the three men charged with assault with prohibited weapons in connection with the greasing and feathering of Boyce Baker, 19-year-old employee of the Western Union Telegraph company here, were bound over to the grand jury under bail of $1000 each at the preliminary hearing yesterday. The third man was released and the case against him dismissed.

Tucker was taken from in front of the Western Union building, early Tuesday morning by a party of men. He was taken in an automobile to a local garage, where, after being mistreated, he was covered with a coat of grease and feathers, and his hair cut.

BRITISH DOMESTICS DECLINE TO SERVE AND MISTRESSES WORRY

By CHAS. MCCANN

LONDON, July 12.—British servant girls are seeking the emancipation war long ago by their American sisters, known in the United States as domestics or maids.

In their enthusiasm they have emancipated themselves entirely out of domestic service, with the result that a nationwide shortage of servants has been followed by a government investigation.

While the government is investigating the cause of the shortage, the former servant girls are living on government unemployment insurance and refusing to take jobs.

So far the investigation is a success in everything but results. The thousands of suggestions made by representatives of mistresses and maids include:

Conscription of women of all classes for a period of domestic service.

Two servants for every home to lighten work.

Victrolas to accompany the rattling of dishes and relieve the monotony.

"Training centres" for mistresses.

Restaurant meals for employers at night, so that cooks may have evenings to themselves.

Girls Can't or Won't Work.

Testimony if mistresses is that the army of unemployed servants is unemployable; that the girls who do take jobs either will not or cannot do the work.

The maid's case was epitomized by a witness who told of a prospective mistress who asked a girl if she would do the washing. When the girl refused the mistress exclaimed:

"Oh, dear! Wherever have all the good servants gone?"

"To look after the good situations," the girl replied.

That is as far as the investigation has gone. It has disclosed that there are tens of thousands of servant girls out of jobs; and almost as many mistresses going grey trying to mind the children and wash the dishes at the same time.

The mistresses are out of luck. But the girls themselves are, drawing the government "dole," or unemployment insurance payments, every week, and making almost as much money as they would by working.

The investigation, which is being conducted by the Ministry of Labor, has drawn on for weeks. Some of the enthusiastic suggestions for bettering the status of the servant girl have put a large part of the public off the investigation, and caused newspapers to declare that in return for their service maids are to be "nationalized and given the freedom of the city."

All that has been proved is that there are more jobs than girls, and that the servants' revolution, if somewhat delayed, has been thorough.

WISCONSIN ADOPTS NEW TRAINING PLAN

MADISON, Wis., July 12.—Wisconsin school kids will get bodies trimmed, as well as minds, starting next fall.

A new law just signed by Governor J. J. Blaine requires in all public schools above kindergarten, a minimum of two and one-half hours a week of "physical education," which is defined as mean "practice in the art of physical exercise and hygiene."

Recesses don't count, so the time will have to be taken out of the class hours. The law provides that medical examination shall not be included in physical education.

All state schools training teachers for the public schools will hereafter be required to give courses in playground exercises and games, to prepare the teachers for the new work.

Disposition of Pistol Causes Her Arrest After Mate's Death

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—Sobbing hysterically that she did not kill her husband, Mrs. Wilburga Osterreich, wealthy widow of Fred Osterreich, who was shot and killed in his home here a year ago, is held in jail today on suspicion of murder.

During the original investigation of the murder suspicion had never been directed toward the pretty young widow because she was found locked in a closet, presumably by the slayers of her husband.

Her arrest was caused by information given the police which indicated that recently Mrs. Osterreich had been attempting to dispose of a .25 calibre automatic pistol, a weapon of the class calibre as that with which her husband was shot and killed. Authorities have not divulged the source of this information nor have they uncovered any specific motive for the alleged murder.

The investigation, which is being conducted by the Ministry of Labor, has drawn on for weeks. Some of the enthusiastic suggestions for bettering the status of the servant girl have put a large part of the public off the investigation, and caused newspapers to declare that in return for their service maids are to be "nationalized and given the freedom of the city."

All that has been proved is that there are more jobs than girls, and that the servants' revolution, if somewhat delayed, has been thorough.

New Machine Rips Crusts Off Souls, Ljars Tell Truths

BERKELEY, Calif., July 12.—Scientific cops have a new device for extracting truth from persons in whom this virtue is alleged not to exist.

It is the "soul searcher" and is the product of the brain of Dr. Albert Schneider, professor of criminology.

The "soul searcher" is an adaptation of a galvanometer to which Schneider has attached a tube containing mercury. The subject, unknowingly, furnishes electric current when he places the tips of his fingers on especially prepared plates.

By suggestion the skilled operator draws painlessly from his subject all that is hidden and the harder he tries to conceal it, the more emphatically the mercury registers the truth.

MOST ACTIVE MAN IN NATION

Stinnes, However, Is Not the Richest German

BERLIN, July 12.—Hugo Stinnes is contrary to general opinion—by far not the richest man in Germany.

Gustav Stressemann, leader of the Volkspartei, representing the big business, and therefore in a position to know, told the United Press that Stinnes figures far down the line in financial rating in Germany.

According to Stressemann, Germany's wealthiest man is August Thyssen, the veteran among German captains of industry, and father of Fritz Thyssen, who was sentenced to a heavy fine by the French court-martial in Mayence at the beginning of the occupation.

Thyssen's main holdings are in mining and smelting properties in the Ruhr.

Bought Old Iron

Next comes Otto Wolff, who, in contrast with Thyssen, is one of Germany's newest rich. His money is largely made in the iron trade—especially old iron. For instance, shortly after the war, Wolff bought a portion of the outworn British battle ships which were salvaged for their old iron. With the money made during the war, Wolff obtained control of several steelworks and later went into the mining industry also. Recently he has financed big commercial enterprises, especially at the end of last year, when he obtained the biggest concession in Russia that the Soviet government has so far granted anybody.

Among other the fortune of Krupp von Bohlen Halbach is said to surpass that of Stinnes.

Stinnes, according to Stressemann, ranks about twelfth or thirteenth, though his activity may put him first in Germany and perhaps the world. There is always the possibility, financiers point out, that Stinnes' daring investments and the unheard-of risks he runs may bring him either to world leadership or to complete failure.

Contrary to general opinion Stinnes is not a war profiteer in the ordinary sense, though doubtless he made considerable money during the war. Already before the outbreak of war Stinnes was one of the leading German industrialists and his interests extended almost over the whole 30 years ago, had as his basic capital only 50,000 marks, equalling about $12,500 at that time. He was a multi-millionaire in marks—gold marks at that time—when the war broke out.

INCOMES RUN HIGHER

BUTENOS AIRES, July 12.—Practically every important railroad and street car line in Argentina had a larger income and smaller expense in 1932 than in the previous year, which is taken to indicate a favorable outlook for investments of foreign capital.

Third of Chicagoans Work in Factories

CHICAGO, July 12.—A third of Chicago's working population, more than 10 years old, is employed in factories, according to the report of the United States census bureau. The total is 459,000 out of 1,231,434 working people.

The city has 210,577 clerks as its second largest working class. Trades are third with 206,975 and domestic and personal service fourth with 119,102.

Of 233,190 white women of native parentage, 74,603 are employed in the city. The largest percentage of employment among women goes to the negroes, while contrary to belief, the lowest percentage is among foreign-born women.

Use of child labor was found to be slight.
